

Thinkwork: Working, Learning, And Managing In A Computer-interactive Society

We're in a new age of data visualization × quant-qual science

What's a Data Scientist?

The core set of skills:

- Programming Skills
- Statistics
- Machine Learning
- Multivariable Calculus & Linear Algebra
- Data Wrangling
- Data Intuition
- Data Visualization & Communication

OSDSM

The Open Source Data Science Master's Degree is a cool set of resources gathered by Clare Corthell.

Talk data to me

Data visualization and journalism teams at The Guardian NYT WSJ have been at the forefront.

These tools show a new direction:

- Observable by Mike Bostock
- Data Studio by Google
- Colaboratory by Google

And open source ones exist too:

- D3.js by Mike Bostock
- Processing by Processing Team
- Zeppelin by Apache
- DrawBot by DrawBot Team

Have I given up on design?

Nope. I'm just collecting all the parts I've been learning/doing for my whole life before – I get uploaded to the big cloud in the sky one day. To design amazing experiences for people, I've always chosen to think/work inclusively and broadly.
